

Doctor of Education

Available on the Jackson and Germantown Campuses

Program Purpose

The Doctor of Education program is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to advance their careers in education. The program focuses on the study of educational theory, research, and practice, with an emphasis on leadership and innovation in the field. Students will engage in a rigorous curriculum that includes coursework, research, and a dissertation project. The program is available on the Jackson and Germantown campuses.

Objectives of the Program

The objectives of the Doctor of Education program are to:

- 1. Prepare students for advanced roles in education, such as school administrators, researchers, and policy makers.
- 2. Develop students' critical thinking and problem-solving skills through the study of complex educational issues.
- 3. Encourage students to engage in research that contributes to the field of education.
- 4. Provide students with the opportunity to work closely with faculty members who are experts in their respective fields.
- 5. Offer students a flexible program that can be completed in a shorter time frame than a traditional PhD program.
