

(2000). 1 40 4 3 0 40(40(

4 313, 4 ,
112 21

21 211 212, 101, 102 10 .

1. 3 213, / 2501 0, 30 ,
2. 30 , 3 0, 4 , 40
3. 44 , 41
4 10

111, 211.

1

1. The first part of the text discusses the importance of understanding the political system and the role of the government in society. It highlights the need for a strong and stable government to ensure the well-being of the citizens.

2. The second part of the text focuses on the economic aspects of the political system. It discusses the impact of government policies on the economy and the role of the market in determining the distribution of resources.

3. The third part of the text addresses the social and cultural dimensions of the political system. It explores the influence of social norms and values on political behavior and the role of the government in promoting social justice and equality.

4. The fourth part of the text discusses the international relations and the role of the government in the global context. It highlights the importance of cooperation and dialogue between nations to address global challenges and promote peace and stability.

5. The fifth part of the text concludes by emphasizing the need for a balanced and inclusive political system that takes into account the interests of all citizens. It calls for a commitment to democratic principles and the rule of law to ensure a just and equitable society.

331.

The text continues to discuss the importance of a strong and stable government in ensuring the well-being of the citizens. It highlights the need for a government that is transparent and accountable to the people.

The text also discusses the role of the market in determining the distribution of resources. It emphasizes the importance of a free and competitive market that allows for the efficient allocation of resources and the promotion of economic growth.

The text further explores the influence of social norms and values on political behavior. It discusses the role of the government in promoting social justice and equality, and the importance of a government that is committed to the welfare of all citizens.

33.

The text concludes by emphasizing the need for a balanced and inclusive political system. It calls for a government that is committed to democratic principles and the rule of law, and that takes into account the interests of all citizens.

The text also discusses the importance of international relations and the role of the government in the global context. It highlights the need for cooperation and dialogue between nations to address global challenges and promote peace and stability.

The text concludes by emphasizing the need for a balanced and inclusive political system that takes into account the interests of all citizens. It calls for a commitment to democratic principles and the rule of law to ensure a just and equitable society.

The text discusses the importance of understanding the political system and the role of the government in society. It highlights the need for a strong and stable government to ensure the well-being of the citizens.

The text focuses on the economic aspects of the political system. It discusses the impact of government policies on the economy and the role of the market in determining the distribution of resources.

The text addresses the social and cultural dimensions of the political system. It explores the influence of social norms and values on political behavior and the role of the government in promoting social justice and equality.

The text discusses the international relations and the role of the government in the global context. It highlights the importance of cooperation and dialogue between nations to address global challenges and promote peace and stability.

The text concludes by emphasizing the need for a balanced and inclusive political system that takes into account the interests of all citizens. It calls for a commitment to democratic principles and the rule of law to ensure a just and equitable society.

() 0. () 0. () 0. () 0.

