

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Dean

(2018). Dean for the College of Education. B.A., The College of William and Mary; M.A., University of Richmond; Ph.D., University of Maryland.

Professor of Education, and Director of Master's Programs in Education—Jackson. B.S., Union University; M.Ed., University of Memphis; Ed.S. and Ed.D., Union University.

(2010). Associate Dean for Education, Chair, Department of Educational Leadership, and Professor of Educational Leadership. B.S., Freed-Hardeman University; M.S. and Ed.D., University of Memphis.

(2010). Assistant Dean for Education—Hendersonville, Professor of Education, Director of Online Instructional Innovations, and Director of the Thomas R. Rosebrough Center for Educational Practice. B.A., Fresno Pacific University; Ed.D., M.Ed., Harding University; Ed.D., University of Memphis.

Staff

(1992). Assistant to the Dean. B.S. and M.A.Ed., Union University.

The College of Education includes the School of Education and the Department of Physical Education-Wellness-Sport. The College offers seven undergraduate majors and five graduate degrees, including the M.A.Ed., M.Ed., M.U.Ed., Ed.S., and Ed.D. Two of the programs offered in the College are nationally accredited, including Teacher Education (NCATE) and Athletic Training (CAAHEP). Graduate programs are offered on the Jackson, Germantown and Hendersonville campuses. The College offers online degrees at the Masters, Education Specialist, and Doctoral levels.

Connecting these disciplines is a commitment to the implications and applications of the Great Commandment: a sincere desire to apply knowledge and improve the lives of people in the name and through the love of Christ.

Mission Statement

The mission of the College of Education is to prepare reflective, pragmatic and consistent with Christ's teachings, whether it is to rehabilitate.